Huntington Meats \(http://huntingtonmeats.com\) and Farmers Market Poultry are doing their part to make sure nightly bedtime rituals like fresh pajamas will provide a peaceful good night to in-need children this holiday season. The two shops, located in the Original Farmers Market, are teaming up to host their first Holiday Kids Pajama Drive to take place the entire month of November. The goal is to collect 300 pairs of pajamas for distribution to local agencies servicing homeless and low income families.

Customers that visit either of the shops and donate a pair of new, unwrapped pajamas valued at $10 or more will receive a complimentary pound of premium bacon or homemade sausages from Huntington Meats, or a dozen fresh eggs from Farmers Market Poultry. In addition to PJs for children aged infant to age 18, the shops will be collecting children's slippers, robes, security blankets, story books and toothbrush/toothpaste sets through November 30.

"We thought this was a unique idea for a great cause," owner Jim Cascone said in a press release. "Toy drives are great during the holiday, but we forget that some kids may never have received a brand new pair of PJs, which was something many of us took for granted growing up."
